

Conflicts of Interest

Please answer the following questions (all authors must answer).

1. In the past five years, have you or a member of your family accepted the following from an organization that may in any way gain or lose financially from the results of your study or the conclusions of your review, editorial, or letter:

_____ Reimbursement for attending a symposium?

_____ A fee for speaking?

_____ A fee for organizing education?

_____ Funds for research?

_____ Funds for a member of staff?

_____ Fees for consulting?

2. Have you in the past five years been employed by an organization that may in any way gain or lose financially from the results of your study or the conclusions of your review, editorial, or letter?

3. Do you hold any stocks or shares in an organization that may in any way gain or lose financially from the results of your study or the conclusions of your review, editorial, or letter?

4. Have you acted as an expert witness on the subject of your study, review, editorial, or letter?

5. Do you have any other competing financial interests? If so, please specify.

If you have answered "yes" to any of the above 5 questions, we consider that you may have a competing interest, which, in the spirit of openness, should be declared. Please draft a statement to publish with the article. Please place this statement on the Title page of the manuscript. It might, for example, read:

Competing interests: RS is the CEO of ACME adjusting manipulation devices, has been reimbursed by ACME for travel to various seminars to speak about this product, and he owns shares in the company; TD has been paid by Shangri La Products for running the statistics for this study; JS receives no financial or other form of compensation from ACME, but uses the manipulation devices exclusively.

If you did not answer "yes" to any of the four questions above, we will publish "Conflicts of Interest: The authors have no conflicts of interest to declare."